Join us in the Parlor after worship this morning and on March 24 for a two-part presentation titled “Miracles in Context, Some Stories of the Real Easter.”

Commuter Concert Series, Tuesday, March 19, 6:00 p.m.:

Alyssa Allgood is an award-winning jazz vocalist, composer, arranger and educator with a compelling voice in the modern jazz landscape. Described as “assured and daring” by Downbeat Magazine and “a model of sophisticated song interpretation” by the Chicago Tribune, the Chicago-based artist boldly weaves soulful storytelling and rich improvisational language through original compositions, captivating arrangements and a lyrical focus of self-love and human connection. She won the Inaugural Ella Fitzgerald Competition (2017) and the David Baker Memorial Scholarship (2022) through the Jazz Education Network. Named “Best Jazz Entertainer” in the Chicago Music Awards, Allgood has performed at many distinguished venues.

There is no admission charge. Free-will donations go entirely to musicians participating in our concert series.
